Comments:

Every September, National Preparedness Month reminds us to get ready for the unexpected: whether it's a natural disaster, power outage, fire, earthquake, or workplace emergency. While no one can predict exactly when a disaster will strike, being prepared helps reduce panic, protect lives, and speed up recovery.

Types of Emergencies to Consider

Earthquakes

Wildfires

Flooding

Tornadoes or hurricanes

Hazardous material spills

Power outages

Medical emergencies

Workplace violence or active threats

How We Prepare at Work

Emergency Action Plans posted in SSSP's and throughout our shops and offices.

Evacuations and rally points clearly identified and reviewed with all employees.

Fire extinguishers, first aid kits, & AED's that are readily available and regularly inspected.

Toolbox Talks like this one to increase awareness and build confidence.

Ongoing training for CPR/First Aid and rescue procedures keeps our teams ready.

How YOU Can Be Prepared Personally

Create a family emergency plan (communication, meeting points & evacuation routes).

Build a :Go Bag: or :Get Home Bag: with essential supplies, (more on that next week).

Keep a pair of sturdy shoes and a flashlight in your vehicle or at your workstation.

Sign up for local emergency alerts in your city or county.

Learn where utility shutoffs are in your home and how to use them.

Keep extra medication and copies of important documents in a secure, accessible place.

Remember This!

:You don't rise to the occasion : you fall to your level of preparation.:

Take the time this month to check your emergency plans, talk with your family, and review your supplies: both at home and on the job. Emergency response isn't just a safety requirement: it's a personal responsibility.
